May the wind and the waves be your friend.
May you stand the storm, and the hand of the Lord,
bring you safely to harbor again.

Captain's Corner & Fish Tales from the Gulf

Captain's Spotlight

Capt. Tony has been stalking the flats of Steinhatchee for the last twenty years. While owning and working a dairy farm, he began chartering for fish and scallops part-time in 2001. After retiring from the dairy business in 2015, he continued with his passion of inshore fishing as a full-time charter captain.

His love of fishing led him to compete in the Inshore Fishing Association, a professional tournament trail. During his nine years of competitive fishing for Redfish, he traveled from the East and West Coast of Florida to Louisiana's shores. He earned first to sixth place several times with a Divisional Champion in the Gulf Coast Division.

Fishing out of his 24' Young Gulfshore, Capt. Tony enjoys taking people fishing, regardless of age. He truly enjoys teaching children the love of fishing and respect for nature—a day on the water with Capt. Tony will prove to be a good time. Multi-boat trips are easily organized to fit your needs. Bring a lunch and some sunscreen, and be ready for a fantastic day of fishing or scalloping.

Tony prefers using artificial baits over live baits and is eager to share the many different strategies of using them for a variety of fish, weather, and conditions. His favorite time of year to fish is May-June and again late September - early December, but his all-time favorite is during the very cold months when the monsters come out to play in the troughs of the flats.
